the
place where I belong
and where there
is no loneliness,
is somewhere
in the world,
although I can't find it.

trying to prove his point, he would reach

SOLITUDE

and the loncliest star.

how do you choose when to move Disoriented, I'd
hiked into the wilderness with no map.
This is what happens—what I'd been looking for—didn't exist

Barn's burnt down
Now
I can see the moon
